Motion design

/Task

A video project for a company that has made a complete rebranding. According to the given screenplay, detailed storyboards and art direction from the agency, we offered the solution that helped demonstrate the style and principles of working with the visual system for partners and employees of the company. We visualised a clear connection between the design and the brand platform. The purpose of these videos was to onboard employees, who in the future, will facilitate the creation of communication materials and design layouts of the brand.

We had to create an explainer about the company and the product. A screenplay was given by the studio, according to which we created moodboards, storyboards and full animation. Junctions between scenes were made so that the video looked a whole. We also created a sound design for the entire video.

The agency created visual communication for its client. We had to develop a mascot, model a studio and launch a series of commercials. The mascot was supposed to become a news anchor for a large corporation for one year. We issued four commercials per month – a full production service from the idea to implementation.
